THE CAVE OF GHOSTS.

This Is One of the Wonder Places of New South Wales.

One of the curiosities of Oakley creek, N. S. W., is a cave which very few people care to enter. It is of the usual order of stalactite and stalagmite shapes and figures, but in order to get inside it the visitor must crouch down and squeeze himself through a narrow opening and grope his way in the inky darkness for a few yards till he can stand erect and light a torch.

As soon as he has done this he sees faintly the weird shapes assumed by the water dripping from the limestone and he hears a whirring noise. He feels inclined to make his exit at once, but he hears something moving all round him, and presently something touches him.

He concludes that there are uncanny spirits about, and this sensation is multiplied many times in intensity when on turning to retrace his steps he finds himself confronted by a tall, ghostly figure.

If the visitor has a strong nerve or has been forewarned, which is not always the case, he recognizes that the ghostly figure is a senseless block formed by the dripping from the limestone, and that the moving creatures are bats.

There is one part of the cave which no man has dared to explore. It is called the blowhole. One adventurous visitor was about to squeeze himself through this narrow aperture when it occurred to him to throw a stone through. He did so, listening for the stone to touch bottom, and the dull sound that finally reached him convinced him that there was a sheer drop of 200 feet on the other side of the blowhole.

Condensed For Four Days.

"There was a good old lawyer of the good old southern type," said a judge, "who had a most eloquent way of pleading. His brief for three days had been a marvel of classical allusion and legal erudition.

"The judge, however, became a trifle impatient and, as gently as he could, intimated that the docket was somewhat crowded, and it might be to the client's interest if the lawyer could contrive to end his plea. And, do you know, the old barrister declared that the last four days of his argument were a marvel of condensation."

Critics.

A party of compositors and printers from the country, up for a day's outing in London, visit the National gallery and pause in front of Turner's "Ulysses."

Foreman (to his companions, both lost in admiration)—It's marvelous! All done by hand too!

Second Compositor and Printer (enthusiastically)—Why, it's every bit as good as color printing!—Punch.

Never Occurred to Him.

"I don't know why it is," said Mr. Glossup as he came downstairs red eyed and sleepy and greeted his guest, "but I never can get used to the striking of that clock in our room.

"It has such a loud, insistent 'bang' when it strikes the hours that it wakes me up nearly every time. We've had it in the house two or three years, but I can't become accustomed to it. We would have put it in the attic long ago, only it's a present from my wife's mother, and that would never do. Good clock, too, aside from that, but it worries me nearly to death. I wish I knew what to do with it."

"Why don't you wind merely the timekeeping part of it," said his guest, "and let the striking part go unwound?"

"Johnson, you have saved my life!" exclaimed Mr. Glossup joyfully. "I never thought of that."

THE FIRE CROWD.

As a Rule It Likes a Big Blaze and Crashing Walls.

"There is one curious thing connected with fires," said a thoughtful man, "and that is the fact that while the fireman is always a hero in the public estimate and while men and women have all kinds of admiration for these brave fellows they yet want to see them get the worst of it in the fight against the flames. It is an interesting fact that the average man and woman are not at all anxious to see the firemen get the fire under control. They would much rather see the flames spread until the affair developed into an immense conflagration. Mind you, the trait is not at all vicious. There is no malice in it. It is simply the love of excitement and adventure, things that are so deep rooted in human nature that we may not control them at will. Besides, we want to develop our heroes to the limit. We want our firemen to fight a good fight against long odds and under great difficulties. We cannot quarrel with this feeling in the human makeup. After all, it is what one may call the poetry of human nature, and without it this old system of ours would be dull and prosaic indeed. Of course, you will always find a few persons around a fire who are directly concerned in the fight the firemen are making. They want to see the flames put out. In the case of some of the spectators it means bread and meat. It means the loss of a position or maybe the loss of home. But I was speaking of the vast majority of men and women who gather to witness a fire. The fire is the thing with them. They want to see a big blaze and hear the crash of the walls and all that sort of thing. Did you ever take the trouble to analyze a fire crowd? In the first place an alarm of fire will draw a crowd quicker than anything in the world. Whenever the bells begin to clang and the engines go rushing down the street you will see men, women and children rushing this way and that in order to see as much as may be seen of the fire and fire fighters. The hour of day or night does not make so much difference. The crowd will get there in some way and for some reason, though the great majority of the persons have no sort of interest other than idle curiosity. Once on hand, they want to see a good fire, and that's why I say they want to see the flames get the best of the firemen. They will go away and talk about what a game fight the fire laddies made. Human nature is a curious thing, is it not?"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Woman's Duties.

A woman who keeps her house in order and has the care of a family, has just as much responsibility as the man who provides the means to carry on the housekeeping. She is the deserving of the more credit since the demands on her strength are greater. The everlasting sameness about her duties, and the confinement necessary to carry them out is very trying to the nervous system, this produces a strain on the mind that makes her irritable, cross, and dissatisfied, which is just as much a disease as rheumatism or catarrh. If the nerves can be built up and made strong by medicine of some kind, this feeling is changed to one of cheerfulness and pleasure in her duties. The medicine that makes strong steady nerves, and prevents disease by building up the entire system, is Dr. Gunn's Blood and Nerve Tonic, a tablet to take at meal time. Cures nervous prostration by making rich blood, feeding the nerves, and making solid flesh at the rate of 1 to 3 pounds a week. This medicine is sold by druggists for 75 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $2, or sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price. Write us about your case. Address Dr. Bosanko Medicine Company, 128 S. Sixth street, Philadelphia, Penn.

What Time Proves.

This thing of being sick and looking for a cure is a mighty serious business. People are not given to joking even at the first symptom of the approach of the grim destroyer. They do not want to be the subjects of experiment, but want medicine that had the test of years behind it. A medicine that has been made and used for 20 years gives assurance of its worth, and can be taken with a faith that they have the very best cure the world affords. All this can be said about Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills as a remedy for sick-headache, dyspepsia, and indigestion, it begins right at the source of the trouble and the removes the cause. We will send a sample box of these pills free, or a full box on receipt of 25 cents. Sold by all druggists for 25 cents per box, or address Dr. Bosanko Medicine Company, 128 S. COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Saturday, February 20, 1904.

D. E. O'KEEFE.....EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Ornamental Trees to Adorn Union Square.

Bonita Parlor of Native Daughters is about ready to carry out its project of providing Redwood with a public park and will very soon begin the work of laying water pipes and planting trees in Union Square. At the meeting of the city council Monday evening the parlor presented the following communication asking the board's assistance in maintaining the park:

REDWOOD CITY, Feb. 3, 1904.

D. R. Stafford, Secretary Board of Town Trustees.—Dear Sir: The Park committee of Bonita parlor, No. 10, N. D. G. W., expects to have the park laid out and planted during the early part of this month. Our park fund, we find, is more than sufficient to purchase and lay the necessary pipe and to arrange the park according to our plans. We therefore ask your honorable board of Town Trustees if they could provide for the immediate care of such trees and shrubs as we may be able to plant. Our landscape gardener does not advise our planting anything that cannot be regularly watered. If you can assure us that the trees would be so cared for, we will proceed at once with our plans, which we are very anxious to do. Were our funds greater we would assume the entire responsibility gladly. We feel, however, that what money we have on hand should be at once used to the best advantage. Hoping that this may meet with your undivided approval, we remain yours for the advancement of our town,

LOUISE M. ROUSSEL,
Secretary Park Comm. Bonita Parlor.

The members of the board were favorable to the plan, and in order to ascertain the monthly cost of the work outlined in the communication the matter was referred to the Water committee for investigation.

Health officer Dodge reported that Martin Kuck had corrected a part of the nuisance in connection with his property on A street, but that the place was still in an unsanitary condition. He was instructed to notify the owner that the work must be completed. Mr. Dodge was also directed to take steps to enforce the owner of the Redwood City House to connect with sewer.

Mr. Dodge called the board's attention to the need of sewer connection at the houses recently erected by C. A. Hooper on the county road. There seemed to be no immediate remedy, however, as the property was located in the newly-added city territory and had not yet contributed toward the municipal treasury. It was suggested that future payment would be guaranteed to any plumber who chose to lay the necessary mains.

The house occupied by George White on Mound street was also reported in need of sewer connections, and the Health officer was directed to so inform the owner.

Treasurer Towne reported money in the different funds as follows:

General fund	$1433 53
Library fund	348 51

Marshal Christ reported having made collections for the month as follows: For water, $523.55; miscellaneous licenses, $42.50; special permits, $2.00. Total, $568.05.

Stafford Bros. were granted permission to change the location of their saloon from Arguello and Sixth streets to the corner of A and Fourth streets.

KEANE COMPANY ATTRACTS.

Alhambra Patrons Witness Good Performances.

For the past week the Keane Company has been holding down the boards at the Alhambra. Mr. Keane has happily surrounded himself with a well balanced and talented lot of people. The unanimous opinion in Redwood is that this is the best organization that has visited this city for some time. The repertoire is carefully selected and the parts are cast to bring out the best in every performer.

Mr. Keane is an extremely versatile young actor and the critics in the East predict a great future for him. The performance last Thursday of Dr. Jeykel and Mr. Hyde was a remarkably clever character study, and quite a feat considering that he played a farce comedy the night before.

There will be three more performances before the engagement closes. This afternoon they will give a children's matinee, producing the laughable farce, "A Night Out." Prices, 15c and 25c. Tonight an elaborate scenic production of Monte Cristo. This is undoubtedly the greatest melodrama ever staged and requires the complete company of sixteen people. Mr. Keane has been playing this piece successfully for the past five years, having procured the coast rights from the original Monte Cristo — James O'Neill.

On Sunday night Mr. Keane will finish his engagement with the startling drama "The Highwayman."

COUNTY BOARD IN SESSION

Official Business Transacted by the Supervisors at Monday's Meeting.

Prefer Stone in Place of Brick for New Court House Building.

The Board of Supervisors met in regular session Monday. All the members were present.

John B. Cronin and others petitioned the Board to have eleven streets in the City Extension Homestead Association closed. The streets are F G H I J K L and First, Second, Third and Fourth avenues.

The petition recites that the said streets have existed only on paper and have never been used by the public. The petitioners agreed to pay for all advertising and other expenses that may be incurred.

R. S. Thornton of Colma opposed the petition. He explained that the property where the streets were located was being sought after for cemetery purposes. He represented proper owners in that locality and while he did not oppose a cemetery being established he did not think it should be located so near the town of Colma.

Chairman Coleman at this point called attention to the fact that this was no time no make a protest. That when the petition was up for hearing arguments pro et con could be made. The fixing of a date for hearing was all that could be done at this time.

J. B. Cronin who represented the petition said that a majority of the lots had been bonded and that he owned a large number.

On motion of Eikerenkotter seconded by McCracken the petition was received and March 21st was set as the day for hearing the petition.

R. S. Thornton said he would have a lengthy petition opposing the request when the matter came up for hearing.

The Homestead Tract, which this petition affects, is located directly west of Colma, opposite the railroad station. It contains some 250 acres of land, and it is reported the Masonic, Odd Fellows, and other fraternal bodies are seeking to secure it for a site for a cemetery.

In reference to the Pescadero and Boulder Creek road, Supervisor McCracken said he was not prepared to report for the reason that Mr. Middleton of Boulder Creek and citizens of Santa Cruz desired to confer with him in regard to the proposed route. At his suggestion the matter was further continued to March 21st.

The petition of Jewell and others to close certain streets at Belmont was further continued to March 21st.

The petition of Mrs. Bartels for rebate on her husband's liquor license was also ordered continued to March 12.

C. N. Kirkbride asked the Board to file the proceedings had in the matter of the San Mateo High School bond issue. He requested that the following resolution be adopted by the Board and on motion of Eikerenkotter seconded by McCracken it was unanimously adopted:

Resolved by the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, that whereas this Board heretofore on the 7th day of December, 1903, duly ordered and directed the issuance and sale of the bonds of the San Mateo Union High School District in the amount of twenty-three thousand (23,000) dollars as will more fully appear by reference to the proceedings of this Board had on that date; and whereas this Board then and there further ordered that said bonds be sold by the County Treasurer of this County after the publication of a notice of sale; and whereas it further appears that P. P. Chamberlain, the County Treasurer of this county, duly received a certified copy of the order of this Board directing the issuance and sale of said bonds as aforesaid; and duly publish notice of said sale and thereafter duly sold the said bonds to the Bank of San Jose, a corporation, and duly delivered the said bonds and received the purchase money therefor; and whereas said County Treasurer has duly made a return of his proceedings had under said order of this Board, which return has been duly received and filed by this Board; and whereas this Board further finds that the matters and things stated in said return are true.

Now therefore, it is hereby ordered that this the Board of Supervisors of the said County of San Mateo, does now and hereby ratify and confirm all the proceedings and acts taken and had by P. P. Chamberlain, the County Treasurer of said County, in the matter of the issuance and sale and delivery of the said bonds of the San Mateo Union High School District; and does hereby further approve the sale of the said bonds to said The Bank of San Jose for the price stated in the said return of said County Treasurer; and does further ratify and approve and confirm the action of J. H. Coleman, the Chairman of this Board in signing the said bonds; and the action of H. W. Schaberg, the Clerk of this Board in countersigning the said bonds and in affixing the seal of this Board to said bonds, and the action of George Barker, the Auditor of said County, in signing the said bonds and the various coupons attached to each of said bonds; and, this Board does further ratify, approve and confirm the action of said County Treasurer in placing the proceeds derived from the sale of said bonds, to wit: the sum of twenty-four thousand two hundred and four (24204) dollars received by him, to the credit of the Building Fund of said San Mateo Union High School District.

Supervisor McEvoy said a resident of his district had unlawfully changed the course of a creek, allowing the water to overflow a public road. He said the practice should be frowned upon by the Supervisors in a decided manner and thus deter others from so doing. He introduced a resolution authorizing the District Attorney to prosecute the offender, and the measure was adopted. Other districts of the county have suffered in the same manner, and the Board is about to correct all such abuses. Supervisor Eikerenkotter said a portion of one of the roads in district had been pre-empted by a vegetable gardener and all but a small space used for traveling upon had been planted to potatoes. The following resolution was adopted on motion of McEvoy seconded by Eikerenkotter:

Whereas, Various persons are trespassing upon the public rights of the county by converting public property to their individual gain, draining their lands by diverting the storm waters from and out of the natural channels and into the county roads, much to the damage of the same. Be it

Resolved, That the District Attorney and the Supervisor of the Third road district are hereby ordered and directed to investigate any encroachment upon the public property or roads of the county; and they are fully authorized to proceed against any or all transgressors, as in their judgment they deem best.

Afternoon Session.

The Board met at 1:30 o'clock pursuant to adjournment at the morning session of the Board.

Clerk H. W. Schaberg said that the required changes in the boundary lines of the voting precincts of the county had been made and that an ordinance would be drafted for passage at the next meeting of the Board.

Architect Dodge appeared before the Board and explained that he had read in the county newspapers and heard it talked about among the people, the advisability of changing the material to be used in the construction of the new court house from brick to stone. He thought it was the general sentiment of the people of the county that the change ought to be made. If the Supervisors contemplate the measure the time was approaching when the matter should be definitely decided upon.

Supervisor Debenedetti said that while his constituents first opposed the policy of spending large sums for a new court house, and now that the work has begun they wanted a good and substantial building. He positively knew that 90 per cent of the residents of the Fourth township favor the proposed change from brick to stone. He himself heartily favored it.

Chairman Coleman asked Architect Dodge if he considered that stone-facing would prove a good and satisfactory job.

Mr. Dodge said he considered it preferable to solid stone. All beams, etc., are carried on the brick walls, and brick has a greater crushing strength than any other material.

Supervisor McCracken said the majority of the taxpayers of his district favored the change. They wanted a good building and thought the extra cost would not be burdensome. In his opinion it would be wisdom to make the change.

Supervisor McEvoy explained that the Board was familiar with his sentiments on the subject. He wanted a good court house, the best that could be erected: yet he did not want to deviate from the original plan without consulting the wishes of the people. He did not think the responsibility of making the proposed change at this time should be assumed by the Board. He suggested that a petition be circulated throughout the county, and that way the sentiment of the people could be secured which would back the Board up in altering the original plans of the new building.

Supervisor Eikerenkotter said the people of his district were practically all in favor of stone. He thought Mr. McEvoy's idea of a petition was not necessary, as the members of the Board must act in this, as in other matters, as their judgment and discretion warrants. He favored the change and thought the Board should take action and make the alterations.

McEvoy wanted the petition because then everyone would be on record so that no blame could be attached to the Board in the future.

Supervisor Debenedetti said the original question of deciding to build a new court house was decided by the members of the Board and no requests for the views of the people on the subject by petition were made. He believed this matter should be decided at once by the Board without the delay which a petition would entail.

L. P. Behrens did not see the necessity of a petition. It would take too long to circulate one and then half the people could not be reached. While he was satisfied with the present plans yet he would like to see a court house erected that would be a credit to the county—one that every citizen could point to with pride. San Mateo County is one of the wealtelest in the State and should have a creditable building.

Chairman Coleman in giving his views said that a few taxpayers had spoken to him on the matter and they did not favor the proposition of expending more money on the new building. He suggested that the architect submit official figures and that a day be set for determining the matter.

R. H. Jury on being called upon said that he had interviewed quite a number of taxpayers at San Mateo, some being the largest property owners in the county, and it was the general opinion that the stone veneering should be used instead of brick. While the county was building a court house it should be first-class in every respect.

P. P. Chamberlain knew the taxpayers favored the stone. He urged the Board to act in the matter saying the property-owners would back up their action. He has spoken to a great many people on the subject and all seemed to be enthusiastic over the change. The extra tax will be mere bagatelle to individual property-owners. They would not notice it. "Why," he said, "a few days ago a large taxpayer came into his office and spoke of the heavy taxes which we would soon be compelled to collect to pay off the court house bonds. When I told him the money had been coming in for several years in the form of a direct tax and that only a small proportion remained to be collected he was surprised, and said he would heartily favor the change from brick to stone."

P. A. Roussell could see no reason why any objection should be made to the proposed change as it would cost but a very little more and the county would get a substantial structure that all could be proud of. McCracken inquired for an estimate of what the stone would cost.

Architect Dodge said he had taken the liberty to secure an estimate. Rock-faced stone would be an additional cost of $49,500 and polished or two-faced stone $58,500. This would include cornice and everything complete. This would render unnecessary, said he, the expenditure of about $10,000 above the present contract price for terra cotta cornices instead of galvanized iron, this change having been decided upon at a previous meeting. He has spoken to a number of contractors and among whom John MacBain and all agreed that the figures were reasonable.

On motion of Debenedetti seconded by McCracken the architect and contractor were directed to bring to the next meeting a written proposition as to the cost, etc., of the proposed change from brick to stone.

No further business appearing the Board adjourned to Monday, March 7th.

TO HOLD FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Berkeley Professor Suggests One for March 11th.

The following communication, which is self-explanatory, was received this week by Attorney F. H. Thorpe of this city:

BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 11, 1904.

Mr. F. H. Thorpe, Redwood City.

My Dear Sir:—Last September there was a communication sent by you to Professor Wickson, in answe to a circular letter in refererence to holding a Farmers' Institute at Redwood City. It would give us pleasure to have an Institute held at Redwood City on March 11th. Two or three sessions during the day could be held, as might be satisfactory to you, or the committee. These Farmers' Institutes have been very successful in Santa Clrra county this year; the attendance has been large and the interest sustained from first to last. I am satisfied that with proper organization of citizens at Redwood City that it would be entirely successful. The cost to the community for these Institutes should be very small, as the community is asked only to furnish the hall and arrange the program, have the same printed and distributed so as to give general notice. This is all of the expense for the community. The three attendants representing the University will have their expenses paid by the University. I inclose a card of suggestions, together with some sample programs, which may be suggestive to you. I will say in this connection that a good working committee, that may be divided up into various sub-committees, can easily perform all the duties required and be a hardship to no one. At this writing I cannot name the three who will be in attendance if the Institute should be held, but I will send their names and topics in the course of a few days.

Trusting that this date will be entirely satisfactory, and that the interest of a good committee of ladies and gentlemen may be evolved, I am very truly yours,

D. T. FOWLER,
Conductor of Farmers' Institutes.

The Kilties Are Comin'.

Of more than ordinary interest is the announcement of the coming of the famous Kilties Band, the Gordon Highlanders of Canada, who have so successfully toured the United States, Canada and Mexico, for the past three seasons. This wonderful organization, which consists of 40 bandsmen, 2 bagpipers, 7 soloists, 4 British military buglers, 6 Highland dancers, and 1 giant drum major, who is over seven feet in height, is re-inforced by a splendid vocal choir of 16 voices. The Kilties will give an afternoon concert at the Alhambra Theatre on Friday afternoon, March 4. The band appears in full kilted uniform, and is splendidly equipped with every accessory necessary to the conduct of a high-class concert band. Of particular interest to all will be Mr. Donald MacCormack, the drum major of the organization. Mr. MacCormack stands 7 feet in his stocking feet, and when wearing the feather bonnet of the organization, he is over 8½ feet tall. He is as good-natured as he big, and is a thorough master of his business. While the famous band has heretofore been one of the most successful musical organizations that has ever toured America, they are this season in even stronger and more attractive form than ever. In addition to their numerous other popular specialties, they have this season added the world-renowned Clan Johnstone Troupe, who came direct from Scotland to Canada to fill the season's engagement with Canada's big touring organization. The Johnstones are recognized as the greatest Highland and character dancers in the world, and are headed by Pipe Major Albert Johnstone, who has many times had the honor of appearing by special command before Queen Victoria and King Edward. Their appearance for several seasons in England Theatres, Shaftesbury Avenue and other leading London, England Theatres, has given them a world-wide reputation as Scottish and Irish dancers.

Thousands Go East.

The Santa Fe is already taking people to St. Louis for the World's Fair. Thousands are asking what rates and accommodations may be had. In San Francisco the city ticket office of the Santa Fe has special clerks answering inquiries that come by mail. Every care is taken to see that details of the lowest priced as well as the most luxurious modes of travel are made plain to each inquirer. If you expect to go East this year, it would be well to address the Santa Fe, 641 Market street, San Francisco; or H. R. Sterne, General Agent, 21 South First street, San Jose.

The Merry Peals of Wedding Bells Ring Out Their Joyful Sound. St. Patrick's Day Festivities.

MENLO, February 19—Miss Mary Bates, formerly of this place, but now a resident of San Francisco, spent the fore part of the week here with her friend, Miss Lynch.

First communion classes have been organized and are to be conducted by the madames of the Sacred Heart Convent.

The Wolfe and Lyon Families have secured the McNally cottage for the summer and will move down the latter part of March.

Tired Menloites need an outing and already there are rumors to the effect that another monster picnic will be held early in May.

William Ratje, who acted as clerk for J. H. O'Keefe until recently, departed for his old home in Germany Thursday, to be gone for three months.

Judge Hyland of San Jose on last Monday appointed W. P. Gray, B. Miller and Joseph Larkin appraisers of the estate of the late Mary Garen (Mrs. P. Farley.)

Joe Cull and E. J. Crane killed two coyotes in the hills last Sunday and Thomas Cochrane closed the season by killing two dozen quail on the McDonough ranch.

Hot water bottles are not a luxury but a necessity at this time of the year. All sizes, from 75c up, and positively guaranteed. Menlo Park Pharmacy, M. E. Selzer, Proprietor.

James Dumphy, the well known cattle man of San Francisco, and his wife, have taken apartments at the Oak Grove Villa, and will be down next month to remain for some time.

Miss Hyer, the young daughter of ex-Supervisor Hyer of San Francisco, was married at San Jose last week. She is well known here, having for some years spent the summer months with the Misses Kuck.

Thomas Murphy, who was drowned in the bay at the foot of Webster street, San Francisco, last Sunday, was a son of Mr. J. Murphy, who occupied the J. R. Doyle residence until recently. He visited the family here quite frequently and was well known both here and at San Carlos, where at one time he lived. Deceased was a plasterer by trade and 28 years of age.

The committees appointed to supervise the work of improving Holy Cross cemetery, Menlo Park, report steady progress. The walks have been cleaned and the graves of the friendless dead have been given much needed attention. Owners unsightly wooden railings and rotten crosses have been notified to remove same. These structures give the place a hideous appearance and render futile all efforts to beautify it.

W. H. Roden, the well known San Francisco commission merchant, who has been residing here for the past year, has awarded a contract to John MacBain for the erection of a two-story residence on his property near Fair Oaks station. The building will be large and commodious and modern in every particular, and when completed will be the finest suburban residence in that locality. The stipulated price of the contract is $12,000. Mr. MacBain has begun the work of putting in the sewer pipe and carpenters will start on the building within two weeks.

There will be a regular old country celebrtion of St. Patrick's day in Menlo this year. Local talent will be in evidence. An oration, "The National Poetry of Ireland," will be delivered by Rev. Philip O'Ryan. The juvenile choir will be heard in Gaelic song. Miss Annie Rooney will renew old acquaintances with her many friends in Menlo. Under her direction a sketch of rare merit will be produced. Mr. William Judge, and experienced stage artist of San Francisco, will render comic selections, and four members of the San Francisco Gaelic Dancing Club will give exhibitions in Irish step dancing. The affair is to be conducted by the Young Ladies' Sodality of the Church of the Nativity. Tickets, adults, 50 cents; children, 25 cents.

Last Wednesday began the great fast of Lent and until Easter Sunday, which this year comes on April 3d, members of the Roman Catholic churches and the Episcopal churches will abstain from all flesh meats and give themselves up to reflection, good works, self-sacrifices and devotion. For forty days the people of these two denominations will withdraw themselves from social gaities and attend strictly to their religious duties and obligations. These forty days are to commemorate the forty days of fasting of Christ in the desert. At the Church of the Nativity, besides the regular Sunday afternoon services, the Stations of the Cross and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will take place every Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. At Trinity Episcopal Church services will be held every Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock and at a quarter to eight every Thursday and Friday evenings during Lent. Services will be held every day during Holy week and two special services on Good Friday.

WEDDING BELLS RING OUT ONCE AGAIN.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Church of the Nativity Tuesday afternoon. The high contracting parties were John J. Carroll of San Francisco and Miss Nellie Maloney of this place. The little edifice was crowded with friends of the young couple, which attested their popularity. Promptly at 2 o'clock the bridal party entered the church to the sweet strains of the wedding march rendered by Miss Gussie Tuttle, and took their places at the altar, where they were met by Father Bailey, who performed the impressive ceremony in a very happy manner. During the ceremony the beautiful wedding march "O, Promise Me" was sweetly and softly rendered, lending a charm and sweetness to the impressiveness of the occasion. Father Bailey, after making two hearts beat as ever one, delivered a few appropriate remarks, reminding the young couple of the grave responsibilities they were assuming and the burdens they would have to bear through life. "But," said the good priest, "this hour we hope marks the beginning of a career which will make you wiser, better and more useful to your fellow-creatures in this life and in the life beyond, and when death at last shall break the link which binds you, as death alone can break it may that last hour find two hands as fondly clasped and two hearts as closely joined as they are to-day, and may the joys of this life be a foretaste of the joys that are to come." The bride was attended by Miss Aimee McEvoy while D. P. Carroll, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The beautiful bride, who is a tall, stately blonde, looked lovely in a champagne etamine suit, elaborately trimmed with cuchre lace. She wore a large pale-blue and white tulle picture hat and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. The pretty bridesmaid looked charmingly in a champagne crape de Paris dress, trimmed with all-over lace and chiffon. She wore a white hat with a long white plume and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom and best man were dressed in becoming black suits. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party was driven to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. Maloney, where the young couple were heartily congratulated by their numerous friends. A reception was then held and the health and good wishes of the happy pair for a prosperous wedded life were drunk. During the reception the bride and groom flitted quietly away and took the 3:06 train at Palo Alto and were speeding on their way to San Francisco before their absence was noticed. Mr. and Mrs. Carroll will spend their honeymoon in Southern California and on their return will reside at Twenty-second and Guerrero streets, San Francisco, where Mr. Carroll has prepared a handsome home for his bride. Mrs. Carroll was born, raised and grew to womanhood here. She is a young lady of most estimable qualities and is possessed of many graces of mind and heart. She has a wide circle of friends both here and in San Francisco. The bridegroom is a young business man of San Francisco, well and favorably known here. He is connected with the Enterprise Brewing Company of San Francisco. The young couple were the recipients of many useful and beautiful presents, which they will carry to their new home, together with the best wishes of their many friends for their future welfare.

Pescadero Portuguese Play Pranks Leap Year Ball All Right. All Serene at Woodside.

PESCADERO, February 19—M. Curtis has brought his wife down here and expects to remain permanently.

Mrs. Huff, one of the pioneer women of the place, is quite ill at her home near by. May Good is in attendance.

A case of assault and battery is being tried before Judge Coburn — Lewis vs. Bennet—all the outcome of too much fun on "Flour Day."

Miss M. Leathers, who taught the primary school here for ten years, has accepted a position at Yountville. Her friends wish her all success in her new place.

Mrs. E. Teague has made a sale of her fruit farm at Sunnyside to Andrew Pacheco. We will be sorry to lose them as they are excellent people and good neighbors.

"Flour Day," a day of jollity among the Portuguese, created quite a little excitement. Flour was flying thick and fast and nearly all of that race was well powdered and presented quite an amusing appearance.

Emile Heyman made a business trip to Humboldt county last week. He reports lively times up there, and everybody is doing so well that it was impossible to buy out a business in the line in which he wished to engage.

Saturday the ladies of the Portuguese lodge gave a ball and supper. They made a night of it and every one went home tired, but happy. Much praise has been accorded them for the fine supper served on that occasion.

Our town has been the scene of much gaiety lately. The leap year ball given by the ladies of Pescadero was well attended and a very pleasant affair throughout. The gentlemen were so pleased to be waited upon that there were not many fines to be collected.

Judge Coburn has been quite busy lately with his justice cases. If business continues he will have to enlarge his court room. He took a flying trip to San Francisco in company with his father, to visit an aged uncle, Alonzo Coburn, who has been quite ill. He returned Sunday.

WOODSIDE CHIPS.

WOODSIDE, February 19—H. E. Holmes is spending a few days at his summer home in this place.

Miss Elsie Cushing has returned from an extended trip to San Francisco and suburban towns.

Quite an epidemic of colds and lagrip is going around here, but so far nothing very serious has turned up.

Woodside has been well represented at the show during the week in Redwood. The show is pronounced a great success by all.

Wm. McCormack is down from Mendocino on a visit to his folks. Will is engaged in the lumber business in that section and reports everything booming.

Edward Greely came very near losing his life last Tuesday evening. In going to Redwood he collided with another vehicle (?) and he and his friend were thrown out, but escaped uninjured. The rigs were slightly damaged but the participants consider themselves lucky for their narrow escape.

Twenty Shots In His Head.

At the present time there is a keeper on a Hertfordshire estate who has about twenty shots in his head. Nearly thirty years ago this man was accidentally shot by an under keeper, and there were twenty-two holes in the hat he wore, which is preserved to this day. The injured man never had the shots extracted, was long between life and death and completely lost his hearing.—London Standard.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. Thedford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original Thedford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Morgan, Ark., May 25, 1901.

I cannot recommend Thedford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.

MANNERS IN BUSINESS.

Brains and Good Deportment a Winning Combination.

The value of brains in business cannot be overestimated, of course; but neither can the value of manners. Don't make the error of supposing that brains are everything. You may have the best set of brains in the town, but if you haven't the manners of a gentleman nobody is going to appreciate you. Your manner is the outward indication of what you are within in the estimate of most people, and if the manner is disagreeable few will take the trouble to examine into you any further.

The consensus of general opinion is that the man who goes about with porcupine quills as his manners hasn't any brains worth bothering about. Did you never notice that the men who employ large forces of intelligent people look at an applicant closely, ask a few seemingly unimportant questions and promptly employ or dismiss him? They don't sound his brain depth; they don't obtain his biography; they don't inquire into his social standing; they size him up from his manners, and if he is brass on the surface they don't look for gold within.

The employer knows that if an applicant's manner strikes him favorably it will also favorably strike people with whom he comes in contact in his work. And nobody knows better than a big business man that a favorable first impression means half the sale. People are apt to think that if there is any place where manners are of little consequence it is in business, where cold calculation so largely takes the place of feeling. But the truth is that nowhere else are manners of such importance as in everyday dealings. There is no capital and equipment any young man can have that will pay him better than good manners. There is no possible calling for which this does not better fit him. If he has brains the world owes him something, but unless he has good manners he will have a hard time collecting it.—Kansas City World.

A WHISTLER PICTURE.

The Dramatic Manner of Its Finish and an Anticlimax.

Whistler was one day visited by a foreign artist, an old acquaintance, with whom Whistler had not as yet quarreled. He was received with genuine cordiality, and, artist-like, he ran round the studio looking at everything. One small picture seemed to charm him especially, and he said, "Now that is one of your good ones." "Don't look at it, dear boy," said Whistler airily, "it's not finished." "Finished!" said the visitor. "Why, it is the most carefully finished picture of yours that I have ever seen." "Don't look at it!" persisted Whistler. "You are doing injustice to yourself, you are doing injustice to my picture, and you are doing injustice to me!" The visitor looked bewildered, when Whistler, in a theatrical tone, cried out: "Stop! I'll finish it now!" Then he procured a very small camel's hair brush, fixed it on a long and slender handle, mixed a little speck of paint on his palette, dipped the tip of his brush into it, and then, standing off from his picture and with the action of a fencer with his rapier, he lunged forward and touched the picture in one spot with his pigment. "Now it's finished," said he. "Now you may look at it." This was all highly dramatic, and indeed very well acted, but, as in the case of some stage plays, the final act of Whistler's performance proved to be an anticlimax. The foreign artist took his leave, but, finding that he had left his umbrella behind him, called for it next day. The servant, recognizing him, told him that Mr. Whistler had gone out for the day, but invited him to go to the studio and seek his umbrella. He went there and found it, but also took the opportunity of having one more look at the picture which had been "finished" for his special benefit the day before, and then he saw that the little dab of wet paint which Whistler had so dramatically put on he had afterward scrupulously wiped off again!—Frederick Keppel in The Reader.

She Took Them at Their Word.

Keuka lake is one of the most attractive of the great chain of lakes in the interior of New York state. Bluff point at its head is a bold promontory which rises grandly and impressively. It was upon the banks of this lake that the famous "Jemima Wilkinson" founded a colony nearly three generations ago and announced that she could walk upon the water of the lake. A large crowd gathered to see her undertake the experiment. Turning to her followers, she asked, "Have you all faith that I can walk upon the water?" "We have! We have!" her followers replied. "Then there is no use in my undertaking to do so," she replied. "If ye have faith ye shall be saved without my walking upon the water."—Syracuse Telegram.

LIFE ON OTHER PLANETS.

A Subject About Which We Know Absolutely Nothing.

Upon the question whether life bearing planets can exist in other solar systems than our own the answer of science is clear and distinct. It is precisely the same which Professor Newcomb gave concerning the possible inhabitants of Mars, "The reader knows just as much of the subject as I do, and that is nothing at all." Within our solar system we can indeed form some crude estimate of probabilities; beyond it, nothing. All the amazing progress of modern science, all the revelations made by the spectroscope or by photography, all the advance in biology, have not brought us one step nearer an answer to the question, "Is this the only inhabited world?" We stand essentially where Whewell and Brewster did in the middle of the nineteenth century, or we might indeed say where Galilei and Capoano were 300 years ago. We can indeed spin out the discussion at greater length than our predecessors and can introduce a far larger number of more or less irrelevant facts, but of serious argument, either for or against, we are entirely destitute. — Professor Maunder in Knowledge.

A SEA GIRT TOMB.

Francois Rene Was Buried on a Rock in the Atlantic.

Francois Rene, vicomte de Chateaubriand, some twenty years before his death, writing to the mayor of St. Malo, his native town, made the request that the town would grant him on the west point of the rock of Grand bay a space sufficient for his burial. To this island rock, accessible only at low tide, the body of the great French litterateur was brought at his death.

A granite cross marks the spot. At high tide the rock becomes an island, and the waves of the Atlantic beat against this lonely grave. The fiftieth anniversary of the funeral was celebrated by a pilgrimage to the Grand bay, each person being requested to take some floral tribute.

After solemn mass in the cathedral a procession, headed by the mayor and two members of the French academy, crossed the sands and mounted the rocky slopes, and with the sound of music and the firing of salutes the floral homage was made. Poems composed for the occasion were recited, an oration was pronounced by M. le Vicomte de Vogue, and at night the Grand bay displayed green funeral lights.

Mourning In Korea.

Koreans wear full mourning for their fathers. The dress is of hemp cloth, with a hempen girdle. A face shield is used to show that the wearer is a sinner and must not speak to any one unless addressed. The costume is retained for three years, the shield for three months. This is worn for a father only. Secondary mourning is worn for a mother and no mourning at all for a wife. The hat is of wicker. During the China-Japanese war the United States minister ordered every American citizen to have in readiness a dress of this sort for disguise in case of flight.

Hidden Water Supply.

The investigation of a neglected spring or rivulet may bring to light a valuable supply of water for gardening or domestic purposes. A surprising quantity is often obtainable by installing a ram at some seemingly insignificant source. A ram is cheap, because the first expense is the last, there being no cost of maintenance, and it is satisfactory, because the ram requires no attention. Once started, it takes entire care of itself.—Country Life In

Scott's Emulsion brings sunshine to the entire system of the consumptive.

All life is sunshine. The sun pouring its rays into the plant combines earth, water and air into new plant tissue. Sunshine stored up in the plant is its life.

The animal changes plant tissue into animal tissue, changes the stored up sunshine of plant life into animal life.

Fat contains more stored up sunshine than any other form of animal tissue. This is why Scott's Emulsion of pure cod liver oil is literally bottled sunshine, full of rich nourishment and new life for the consumptive.

COST OF HONEYMOONS

HOW THOSE SPENT IN WASHINGTON MAY VARY IN EXPENSE.

Bridegrooms, as a Rule, Are Regardless of the Price of Things on Bridal Tours—How $300 a Day Was Spent In a Hotel In the Capital.

Why is it that so many bridal couples come to Washington to spend their honeymoons? Perhaps the question cannot be satisfactorily answered, but the fact remains that the capital is a great Mecca for the newly wedded. Some people say that it is because Washington is restful and that at this one period in their lives men and women do not care for bustle. They want to be able to devote some thought to each other without fear of personal accident. Whatever the reason, the fact remains that the annual influx of brides and grooms amounts to at least 20,000 persons.

The manager of one of the hotels of the city was asked in regard to the expenses of a honeymoon.

"Is a honeymoon in Washington too expensive for a man with a moderate salary," the reporter asked, "or can it be reduced to an economical basis without displaying the limitations of the bridegroom's purse should he happen to be of the less wealthy class?"

"That question need not be a vexed one," replied the affable manager. "A honeymoon in Washington can be as costly as the purse can buy or it can be spent on an amazingly small amount, if you will, of course, consider the luxury afforded by our modern hotels.

"At this moment I have in mind a man from Chicago who brought his bride here on their wedding trip. Their living expenses amounted to something like $300 a day, that amount being spent in the hotel. But, then," the manager added, "this man had an almost unquenchable thirst for rare old wines and things in season and out of season. But there is just one thing I wish to say in connection with the American bridegroom. I cannot recall one instance where the quality does not hold good, be he a man of wealth or one of modest income. He never questions the price of things. This even proves true concerning the engagement of our apartments. He spends his money generously and without consultation.

"I remember we had as guests at the same time with our $300 a day couple a newly wedded pair from New England. Their daily expenses were $10. Now, using these figures, which are entirely accurate, one can quickly see that luxurious living—it can be purchased for the latter amount—is not so frightfully expensive as our out of town friends picture. Really the amount of money to be spent is more a matter of taste than the condition of one's purse."

At this juncture the manager reached and threw open the door of the state bridal suit, displaying a veritable glimpse of fairyland. This chamber is the most expensive room in the hotel. Its size does not differ materially from the less elegantly furnished rooms, but in magnificence it rivals the most gorgeous bedchambers of European palaces. One speedily realizes that to comprehend its beauty color temperament becomes a necessity.

Investigation reveals walls of plain moire damask, the color of which deepens from the faintest shade of shell pink to the rich blush of the rose. This effect is continued in the less rich hangings and draperies of the same tints, while the carpet reflects the same lines, which become lightened by windows covered with rare old lace. The furniture is of Louis XIV. period, the color scheme is carried out in the upholsterings of figured damask in dainty floral designs and scroll effects, while the four poster bedstead, with its canopy, is said to be an exact copy of the original at Cluny, the cost of the bed alone being enormous.

"But how do you make the expenses run up to $300 a day?" inquired the reporter.

"Quite easily enough. This room, including bath, is $25 a day. Such guests as occupy an apartment of that sort demand a private dining room, the latter ranging in price according to the elaboration of the room and the table furnishing, say $25 for the dining room a day, and $50 is disposed of at once. Now, $100 for three meals for two people is not so much, after all, when priceless wines are served with luncheon and dinner.

"Game, fruit and vegetables out of season are worth their weight in gold, so $100 is a mere bagatelle. The remaining $150 is paid for drawing room, room and board for maid, exclusive of carriage."

Meanwhile the couple from New England were serenely content in their apartment—a bright room, with adjoining bath and every comfort, which cost them $3 a day. Their meals, being ordered judiciously from an elaborate menu, amounted to $6, while the combined tips of husband and wife reached the sum of $1, making the total $10. These two young people enjoyed the life in the public dining room, seeing well dressed guests at table, which frequently proves one of the most pleasing sights of their trips. There they had music, lights and flowers galore, which they were at as much liberty to enjoy for their $10 a day as the western couple for their $300 a day.

"True, our state bridal suit is in constant demand, still a honeymoon can be spent in Washington on a wonderfully small amount of money without displaying penurious qualities, a trait of character from which the average American bridegroom is absolutely free."—Washington Post.
